Urges Ottawa Reconvene Talks in Budget Speech

Speaking in the house of commons in the budget debate this week, J. E. Smith, M.P., North York, congratulated the finance minister and the government on the budget which in reporting a record surplus and announcing substantial income tax reductions had been favorably received throughout the country. The North York member urged the government to reconvene the dominion-provincial conference to clear the way for the settling of many problems vital to the welfare of Canada and was applauded, as he called upon the reconvened conference to consider among other problems the question of over-government in Canada.

"Over-government is a burden on the taxpayers of Canada," he said, "but it continues to grow and we continue to do very little about it." The North York member urged the abolition of tax on radios, the easing of housing control legislation to permit those owning their own homes to move into them and the adoption of an immigration policy which would bring farm laborers to Canada.

As reported in Hansard, extracts from the North York member's budget speech are: "The most serious problem confronting farmers today is the acute shortage of farm help. The only solution, as I see it, is for this government to take the initiative in bringing to Canada a large number of farm workers; not hundreds, but thousands of such farm workers could be absorbed on the farms of Ontario, and within a very short time."

"I think the time has come when that regulation in connection with housing, which prohibits people who own their own homes from moving into them, should be dispensed with. It may be said that this will cause evictions; but I submit that the hardship and suffering of evictions are no less heartrending than the sufferings occasioned in those cases where people, many of them elderly and who, by virtue of lives of thrift and industry, own their own homes, are now unable to move into them because of these regulations. I should hope the regulations might be altered in the not distant future."

"I am sure that it was a matter of great regret to all Canadians, irrespective of their political affiliations, that better results did not come from the recent dominion-provincial conferences. I agree with those who say that this matter of dominion-provincial relations is one of our most important internal problems."

"I should like to see this government take the lead in making another attempt to settle this question. I think the only way to settle these problems satisfactorily is to call a dominion-provincial conference and I submit that this government would be rendering a great national service by reconvening the conference at as early a day as possible."

"When such a conference is held and I hope it will be, I suggest that those who sit around the conference table representing the provinces and the dominion should discuss something more than who is to tax whom, and how much. I am sure the people of Canada would like to see the representatives of the provinces and of this national government discuss seriously, honestly and free from provincial or political bias, the problem of over-government in Canada. We should like to see them discussing in a businesslike

Club Winds Up Season With Two Short Plays

Newmarket—The Newmarket Dramatic Club is winding up its season with two one-act plays, to be presented tonight and tomorrow night at the town hall. One of the plays, Bright and Glorious, was presented at Hart House when the club competed in the Central Ontario Drama League festival in February. The cast, with the exception of one member, is the same as it was on that occasion, and consists of Velma Thompson, Bob Henderson, Agnes Graham, Maile Jackson, G. A. James, Dorothy Thompson and Grace Smith. Dorothy Thompson has replaced Marjory Campbell. Mrs. Dorothy Bowman is the director.

The other play, Husbands Beware, is a comedy, with a cast of Fern Russell, Ethel Winters, Violet Bailie, Dorothy Bowman, Eva Barnes, Edna Sleight, Jeanne Duncan, Mavis Brammer, Marjorie Bailie, Beverly Bartholomew. Charles Boyd directs the play.

Roy Penrose is stage manager for the first presentation, with Jim Findlay acting in that capacity for the second play.

A.P.S. HEALTH ISSUES TOLD TO H.-S. ASSN.

Aurora—"I don't agree that the health plan proposed by the Aurora public school board is necessary or essential," said Dr. G. W. Williams, M.O.H., to the Aurora Home and School Association Monday. "I am strengthened in this opinion by consulting with the provincial board of health. Their experience, which is province-wide, has taught them a complete physical examination of each child every year is not necessary."

At the second meeting of the public school board and the Board of Health, Dr. Williams said the school board was insistent on their plan being followed. A compromise program was finally agreed upon with concessions being made by both bodies. The plan proposed was forwarded to the provincial board of health. Dealing with the reply from them, Dr. Williams said "It does not approve or disapprove the Aurora plan. There are certain criticisms and certain suggestions. I thought the two boards could get together again and draft a new program based on the suggestions made, which would be satisfactory to all."

He had forwarded copies of the letter to each member of the school board and the only reply received had been that the board did not accept the contract from the Board of Health. "I would point out there was no contract to be accepted or rejected as yet," said Dr. Williams. As a result of the board's decision, the board of health had found it necessary to write cancelling the use of the services of the Aurora V.O.N. nurse.

Trustee Herbert Stocks, in the absence of school board chairman, Dr. C. J. Devins, presented the Aurora school board's side of the story. The plan adopted had been a good one in the opinion of all the school board and had been approved by Inspector O. M. McKillop, he said. The recommendations of the provincial board of health were not specific enough or regular enough in the opinion of board members. There would not be the same check made on each pupil as under the local plan, and there would be, he contended, only individual records for part of the pupils.

Mr. Stocks said he saw no reason why the board of health and school board could not work out a plan between them that could be approved by the provincial board of health. "We will be glad to consider further recommendations," he said.

Fire Does $3,000 Damage To Groves Home On Friday

Newmarket—Damage estimated at $3,000 was caused when fire swept through a third-floor apartment in a house owned by Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Groves, 129 Prospect Ave., on Friday. The fire, cause of which has not been determined, apparently started in the south-west half of the roof.

When firemen arrived they found the entire south-west portion of the roof in flames, and aided by a strong wind, the flames spread rapidly. Two lines of hose were immediately run up, but it took firemen some time to get the blaze under control. Ken Groves, a resident of the house, gave firemen full credit. "They did a wonderful job in keeping the fire under control in that wind," he said.

Mrs. William A. Ingledew, 127 Prospect Ave., discovered the blaze and notified Mrs. W. Groves, mother of John Groves, Sr., and Mrs. George Perdue, mother of Mrs. John Groves, both of whom reside at the house and who were the only occupants at the time. She then turned in the alarm. Neighbors assisted Mrs. Perdue to the home of Mrs. Bernard McFate.

A large part of the damage to the house was in the third floor apartment, only recently finished as an apartment for the use of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Groves. Mr. Groves, who was discharged from the army in February, 1946, after three years' service, two of which were spent in Italy, Belgium and Holland, was married in July, 1946, and started to work for the Davis Leather Co. Ltd. in August. John W. Groves, Sr., is a charter member of the company, having worked at the plant here and formerly at the plant in King for over 40 years.

A bedroom suite and a chest-dresser in the apartment were the main items of furniture that were damaged, according to Ken Groves. "The neighbors were wonderful," he said. "They pitched in and got all of the furniture except the bedroom suite and the chest-dresser off the top floor, and about three-quarters of the clothes, too. If it had not been for them, everything up there would have been burned. There was quite a bit of water and smoke damage, to lower floors, especially the second floor, but nothing was burned there."

Carpenters were expected to start work on the house on Monday. A tarpaulin had been thrown over the roof in the meantime. Bob and Ron Groves are other residents of the house.

ACT SAYS P.S. BOARD MUST FILL VACANCY

Aurora—The death of Hugh C. McFate in Aurora has left a vacancy on the public school board which will have to be filled at the next regular meeting of the board. Section 72, subsection 2 of the Public Schools Act says: "Where the office of a trustee of an urban school board becomes vacant from any cause, a majority of the remaining trustees present shall at the first regular meeting after the vacancy occurs, elect some duly qualified person to fill the vacancy and the person so elected shall hold office for the remainder of the term for which his predecessor was elected (Mr. McFate was elected on January 1, 1947, for a term of two years), and in the case of an equality of votes, the chairman of such meeting shall have a second or casting vote."

There will therefore be no public vote to fill the office and the person next in line to fill the post of trustee at the last election will not necessarily be elected by the board members.

Newmarket—In a letter from the provincial government representative in charge of the flood relief campaign, received by H. J. Luck, Newmarket chairman, it was stated that financial contributions to the campaign were being forwarded to provincial headquarters where they would be spent at the direction of the U.K. ministry of food. $1,500-$1,800 Salary Range For Women P.S. Teachers Newmarket—A new wage schedule, requested by the lady teachers of the Newmarket public schools in February, was proposed by the finance committee of the public school board on Friday night and accepted by the board. The schedule set a minimum salary for lady teachers at $1,500, with a maximum salary of $1,800. The new maximum salary for men teachers was set at $2,100.

In future, assistant principals will have a minimum salary of $1,800 and a maximum salary of $2,500, while the supervising principal will receive a minimum of $2,000 and a maximum of $3,500. J. B. Bastedo summed up the opinion of the board when he said that while the new salary limitations were not actually "a schedule", they did provide for higher rates of pay in the Newmarket public schools. Mr. Bastedo said that he could not subscribe to the theory of a "schedule" in the true meaning of the word. "I do not believe that a poor teacher should be given an increase just because of his or her length of service. The board should retain some control over the question of increases," he said.

The report of Inspector O. M. McKillop was received. Mr. McKillop described the attendance in the three schools as "excellent". "Mrs. O. P. Hamilton, the attendance officer, is giving most commendable service to the Newmarket schools," the report said. Other comments were that the basement floors should be resurfaced in all the schools, that the lighting in the classrooms and washrooms in Alexander Muir school is inadequate, that the three schools should be inter-

Music and Health

"Mr. Fowler appears to be doing outstanding work in music," the report said. "The pupils are working in complete co-operation with him. Miss Helen B. Gardner is carrying on the health supervision and health services in a most satisfactory manner."

The report said that "it is worthy of note that during this

Free Chest Survey Planned As Part of T.B. Fight

Newmarket—Tentative plans for a general meeting of the citizens of Newmarket to lay the foundation for a T.B. survey were discussed at a meeting of the Newmarket board of health on Tuesday morning. Special invitations to attend the meeting, the tentative date of which is Tuesday, June 3, will be sent to members of the staff of Pickering College, the managers and members of the staffs of the factories, executives of the Lions club, the Newmarket branch 426, Canadian Legion, the Newmarket Veterans' Association, the Catholic Women's League, the Ministerial Association, the principals of the high and the public schools, the members of the town council, the members of public and separate school boards, to the executive of the Women's Institute, to all doctors, and to the press, while a general invitation will be extended to all Newmarket citizens.

Mrs. Anne Bell said that A. S. Patterson, field secretary of the National Sanitarium Association, will address the meeting and show slides, and at a later meeting, would brief volunteer groups on how to conduct the house-to-house T.B. survey. Present plans of the board call for the division of the town into groups with members of each organization responsible for surveying a section. The meeting will be held at the town hall.

The board also received the written resignation of Miss Helen B. Gardner, public health nurse. Dr. J. Gordon Cock, chairman of the board, expressed the board's regret that Miss Gardner was resigning. "It is hardly possible for me to express the feeling of the members of the board," he said. "Miss Gardner has organized her work beyond our fondest hopes, and the good will that she has created will always be a reminder to us of what she has done here. I would like to express to her our sincere appreciation. Miss Gardner's organization has been one of the bright spots in the municipality, and it is still the most efficient organization in town. It is too bad that having worked so hard to organize the work, she does not desire to continue now that it might be possible to coast a little."

Householders are asked to leave their bundles at their doorstep for collection.

Miss Gardner said that it was not a case of her leaving Newmarket to work somewhere else. It was only that she wanted to retire.

"After looking at Miss Gardner's report I see that it would be a mistake to think that she would ever decide to coast," Dr. Cock said. "As in the case of her

Plans To Continue Music Studies In California

Newmarket—Two Newmarket girls, Gwen Lambert and Laura Whitfield, are leaving Saturday for San Bernardino, Cal., where, in addition to visiting relatives, Miss Lambert will continue her study in music.

Miss Lambert has been a well known singer in Newmarket for several years, having given numerous concerts and having acted as soloist in both St. Andrew's Presbyterian church and in Trinity United church. Miss Lambert studied under Madame Elizabeth Campbell, famous in France as an opera star and more recently a noted teacher in Toronto and also under T. J. Crawford.

Miss Lambert was a member of the choir at Timothy Eaton Memorial church from 1936 to 1939 and four years ago she was the winner on the Ontario Caravan program, an honor which carried with it a three-month radio contract. She also sang at Bigwin Inn for several seasons.

Miss Whitfield, who will accompany Miss Lambert, has been an employee of the Office Specialty Manufacturing Co. and expects to accept a position in San Bernardino. Length of the girls' stay in California is indefinite but they expect to be

Pefferlaw Man Dies After Collision On Town Line

Frank Welsh, Pefferlaw, died in Toronto General hospital on Tuesday as a result of a traffic accident on Sunday night on the townline between Ontario County and York County. Constable William Hill, Sutton, said that the accident occurred just south of the Sutton-Virginia road, at about 9:30 p.m.

"A car driven by Oscar Parker, 252 Golf St., Oshawa, was proceeding south on the road when the driver saw a jeep coming toward him on the wrong side of the road," Const. Hill said. "Parker pulled over to the side of the road and stopped his car. The jeep collided with the left front fender of the Parker

tance of 47 feet before it stopped.

"I investigated the accident and found that Frank Welsh had been driving the 1941 jeep. I told him that I would take him to a doctor and after finishing the investigation I allowed Parker to continue on home and took Welsh to Dr. M. D. Tutchie. Dr. Tutchie examined Welsh and then sent him to Sutton hospital for observation. He was apparently transferred to Toronto General hospital later and he died on Tuesday night."

Constable Hill said that little damage was done to either vehicle and that the steering wheel of the jeep had not been bent. "There was less than $50 damage to the jeep."

1947 BUDGET INDICTMENT OF CUT TWO YEARS AGO

Despite a ten-mill increase, the 1947 budget for Newmarket offers little in the way of new public improvements, and extended services. Most of the increase is absorbed by fixed costs over which there is no control. There are no funds in the budget, as a result, for renovation and repair of public buildings, sidewalks and roads—to mention only the most obvious needs.

Indeed, the chairman of the roads and bridges committee, Councillor Frank Bowser, estimates that of his share of the municipal funds, he will have $2,500 for the purchase of cement, gravel, etc., once his current expenses are paid. The property committee funds, inadequate last year, are further reduced this year.

It should be pointed out, however, that the budget is paying for improvements made last year, and in other years, in the form of debenture charges. There is an increase of $9,000 in debenture charges over last year, debentures issued for waterworks improvements, sewers, and similar services. At the same time, 3.5 mills of the increase this year result in part from planned improvements to the public schools. So while it is true that the budget does not permit new expenditures (an exception is $6,250 for municipal garbage disposal), it is also true that one reason for it is the cost of earlier improvements.

In the final analysis, the writers of the budget have been caught in a squeeze play compounded of rising costs and increasing depreciation. Those who favor a still greater increase in order to effect the necessary repairs and improvements are right in this: the heavier mill-rate would pay off if it paid for repairs now, for the condition of public buildings and facilities is such that the greater the delay in repairs, the heavier the ultimate cost.

At the same time, a heavy percentage of taxes is paid by those on fixed incomes. Already rising prices have placed undue hardship on this group. A 20-mill increase, for example, would be an unjust burden for them. The budget as it stands, with alternative method of financing improvements hinted by the finance committee, represents a compromise between these two factors.

It must be acknowledged, however, that this condition would not have arisen if there had been more judgment and less zeal to reduce the mill-rate two years ago. It is said in defence of the act that the high school grants by the province, responsible for lowering expenditures, were made expressly to ease the burden to the property-owner and that the saving from these grants should be passed on to him in the form of reduced taxes.

What was not considered was that the saving would have been a good deal more effective had the then mill-rate been maintained and the surplus spent on improved services and repairs. Had the mill-rate been maintained, the tax-payer would not now be facing the heavy increase brought by the 1947 budget, and the municipal properties would be in far better shape. In its inability to maintain public property despite the ten-mill increase, the 1947 budget represents an indictment of the short-term financing practised by the Newmarket town council two years ago.

WHY NOT A PLANNING COMMISSION?

Two weeks ago, the Newmarket town council debated an hour over what conditions it would impose upon a proposed subdivision on Eagle St., the plan for which it was asked to approve. At the end of a somewhat sterile argument, Councillor H. J. Luck was delegated to interview the plan's sponsor and report back to the council.

The discussion illustrated the need for a municipal planning commission more effectively than anything else. The disagreement among council members as to how the cost of pavement, sidewalks, etc., would be met demonstrated a lack of policy. The absence of concern among most members over whether or not the plan would benefit Newmarket, whether or not the area should be restricted as to size and type of building, whether the lots allowed sufficient space for proper development—in all this was apparent an indifference to whether there shall be a healthy, pleasant community or a potential slum area.

In fairness to the council, some of these points were mentioned at random, but in no instance was there evidence of a thorough and consistent policy of municipal development. The lack of such a policy in the past has resulted in a narrow Main St., no parking facilities until this late date, traffic hazards where corners are blocked, a three-turn entry into town, a dearth of industrial sites—the list is endless with each citizen in a position to add his own pet peeve.

A planning commission, charged with the provision of a consistent policy of municipal development to the greatest advantage to the town, has been recommended with dogged persistence from time to time, the latest proponent being Councillor R. C. Morrison. As in the case of the others, Mr. Morrison's proposal was neatly turned into the pasture.

In view of the obvious need for town planning, the town council's refusal to act is hard to understand. The objections to proposals for a town planning commission as raised by various council members of the council feared any delegation of authority on planning because of a possible clash with the council.

FREE FLOW OF NEWS NEEDED BUT NOT LIKELY

In a recent interview, Mr. Igor Gouzenko, crown witness in the recent espionage trials, was asked whether, if he were in the position to do it, he would prohibit Soviet movies and propaganda sheets in Canada. Mr. Gouzenko's reply was that there should be strict reciprocity—that for every Soviet movie brought to Canada, a Canadian movie should be shown in Russia; for every Russian broadcast to Canada, a Canadian broadcast to Russia.

It sounds like an excellent idea. But we agree with Mr. Gouzenko that a proposal for such an exchange would not meet the approval of the Russian leaders. The censorship that "protects" the Russian people from information of the outside world is not an idle whimsy of the policy-makers. It is essential to a system of government which maintains itself in part by encouraging the ignorance of the Russian people of the world beyond their borders.

The Soviet leaders fear, with justification, that the contrast between conditions in the "ideal state" and the "capitalist democracies" would hardly encourage belief in the former. The case of Mr. Gouzenko speaks for itself. According to his testimony, the freedom enjoyed by Canadians was a foremost factor in his decision to quit the Soviet embassy with the documents which revealed the espionage ring.

It is unfortunate that the "iron curtain" is so welded to the Soviet policy. The Russian people have won the unrestrained admiration of the world for their contribution to the defeat of Germany. The same effort on behalf of a world peace would ensure its continuance. It is the hope of enlisting that support, we believe, that has inspired much of this silly talk of appeasing Russia over treaty issues—as if such an effort, if made, would be brought to the attention of the Russian people.

Efforts are continually being made to breach the bulwark of silence that shuts Russia from the rest of the world. So far, there has been a little measure of success. There will be no end to the conflict of ideas between Russia and the democracies, which is at the root of the so far unsuccessful settlement of treaties, until there is an unimpeded flow of information to and from Russia. Since that happy condition would ultimately destroy the present system of government, it is unlikely it will ever occur.

HOW ABOUT THOSE HEAVY PROFITS?

The rising cost of living has been given an additional hoist by the discontinuance of the eight-and-half cents a pound subsidy on butter with a resultant ten cents a pound increase to the consumer. The gain, according to the federal minister of agriculture, will be one-and-half cents a pound of butter to the producer.

The consumer does not deny the need of the increase to the producer. The price of feed, of help, of implements—all have shown increases. In this semi-rural community, dependent to a large degree upon the farm trade, there has been no protest worth recording. In fact, it might be said that consumers here, if they were to reflect a moment, would look upon the increase as inadequate.

Nonetheless, a ten-cent increase is no small contribution to rising prices. It would be more acceptable if the other contributors to rising costs showed smaller net profits than they have been recently. It is difficult for the consumer to square a necessary increase, such as that to the farmer, with increases in other goods whose manufacturers show fat balance sheets.

The farmer has been the last to receive any increased return, but the first to feel the increases to others. If ceilings are to be reinstated, as the government has warned will happen if prices rise too high, let them be imposed upon those who show the heavy profits.

What Others Think

DEPRESSION COMPLEX SCORED

(The Canadian Statesman, Bowmanville)
The first effective voice we have heard raised to urge Canadians to snap out of it and replace gloom with high optimism was that of G. Warren Brown, President, Cockfield Brown Co. Ltd., top flight advertising agency in Canada. Speaking at the firm's annual banquet in Montreal, Mr. Brown quite evidently sought to sound a key-note among his associates that they in turn could spread abroad in contacts with business and industry right across the country. It was high time someone took a lead of this character for on all sides these days can be heard many of the sentiments Mr. Brown condemned.

Having returned from a six-months' tour getting the pulse of the nation Mr. Brown said: "Canada's main liability today is a fast growing army of Canadians talking themselves into a depression complex and prophesying that current prosperity just can't last." He went on to say that those who viewed the return of normal business as the old slow business of the past were off the beam today. "Canada," he said, "is sound through and through and given the right spark of confidence and enthusiasm the whole economy can be lifted to unprecedented heights."

He declared that many appeared working themselves into a state of gloom and even hysteria, selling Canada short with pessimism that was the worst sort of advertising for Canada today. His challenge is, "get a right perspective and climb on the band-wagon of prosperity."

Mr. Brown has also been probably reading Hansard for nowhere have we seen so much gloom as in the speeches of leftist members harping back to the hungry thirties and predicting a recurrence just around the corner. What is

- Around Town -

About the men and women you meet around town almost everyday.

At one time the youngest weekly newspaper editor in the country, Joseph Burleigh "Pete" Bastedo was also probably the youngest actor ever to play the part of Sir Joseph Porter on the stage of the Royal Alexandra. He had an uncle whose name was Peter Burleigh Bastedo, and it was apparently out of deference to him that Pete received his sobriquet.

He was born at Bracebridge 48 years ago, and "received" his education at the public school, the high school, and the newspaper office there," he says. "My father owned the Muskoka Herald, and after finishing high school I edited the paper for three years before entering university. I was more or less pitchforked into the job, though. The war was on and all of the fellows in the shop were called into the army. Finally the editor went. My father was away at the time so I stepped in to keep the paper going until he got back." Young Peter was just 17 at the time, but he held the position until his father, who was an ardent advocate of higher education, made him quit the job three years later to attend the University of Toronto.

Treading the Boards
It was while he was in the middle of getting out his Christmas edition in 1916 that he received a call from Mrs. J. P. Fitzgerald, wife of the late sports editor, and at that time president of the women's auxiliary of the Sportsmen's Battalion, asking Pete to come down and play Porter in a production with an otherwise professional cast at the Royal Alexandra. Pete had played the part in an amateur production at Bracebridge the spring before, and apparently someone had seen him.

"The man that they had expected to take the part had held them up for more money at the last minute," Pete says. "My father told me I'd never have another chance like it, and I guess I was too young to be scared, so I did it. I went down on Wednesday, had one rehearsal with the principals of the play and two with the chorus, and on Monday we put on the first performance. The show ran for a week, with six evening performances and two matinees. When I was in my second year at college, I wrote an essay about the experience and was given 90 marks for having a good imagination. The whole thing was the most interesting experience of my life."

After graduating in Arts in 1923, Pete spent a year at O.C.E. and then went back to Bracebridge high school. He taught Latin, English and history, and helped with boys' athletics. He had always been active in sports himself, particularly in hockey and lacrosse. "Ace Bailey was one of my 'printer's devils' when I was editing the paper, and we all used to keep hockey sticks at the shop. Whenever things became a little slack we started playing floor hockey in between the machines in the composing room. I always contended that that was how Ace got to be such a good stick-handler," Pete says.

In 1929 he came to Newmarket high school as vice-principal, and he was employed in that capacity for six years before he became principal when E. D. Manning went to Kenora. He was principal for nine years. While at the high school he assumed charge of boys' athletics, and it was while he was in charge that the local boys won the Eckhardt trophy three years in a row, the first school in the North York group to accomplish that feat. He has not been active in lacrosse since coming to Newmarket, but he was an enthusiast while at Bracebridge, both before and after attending college. While a freshman at university he was a member of the Varsity Intercollegiate lacrosse team that won the Intercollegiate lacrosse championship of America.

Pete left the staff of Newmarket high school in 1944 to accept a position with the North American Life Assurance Company, and within a year he was sent to Barrie as branch manager for the company. He was there for only three months when he came back to Newmarket as district manager for North York, the position that he still holds.

He is now serving his first term as a member of the Newmarket public school board, and as well as serving on the finance and property committees he has been made chairman of the committee that is looking after the Spring Music Festival to be presented on May 30. Music and dramatics have always been two of his chief interests. He was chairman of the recreation council last year while it was in the formative stage. He is also a member of Tuscan Masonic Lodge and an elder of Trinity United church. He was at one time adjutant and second-in-command of the air cadets here, has been superintendent of the Sunday-school and president of the Young People's club. Pete has been married to the former Mary A. Read, Peterboro, for 23 years, and the couple has two children.

THE COMMON ROUND MAKE-BELIEVE

Just like little children, most of us learn to escape into the land of make-believe, that fairy land where no matter how many evil witches, ogres or giants work havoc in the lives of heroes and heroines, the innocent always triumph and after destruction of the evil geni takes place their victims live happily ever after.

In a world where so few things seem to be coherent or to make sense, we still long for the chance to escape even temporarily from the world chaos which seems interminable into that bright world where a happy ending is inevitable. Some find their escape in books, reading or writing them, and in the imaginary joys, woes and triumphs of the characters portrayed therein find a brief span of relief from everyday worries. Some find it in music—that in its highest and best forms can lift us almost to the gates of heaven and can almost always bring relaxation and pleasure.

There are so many forms of creative art from quilt patching to dress designing, from posters to paintings, which thrill the world, from wood carving to sculpture, from the simple but artistic family meal to the magnificence of a state banquet.

Local Organizations
And so, at some time in our lives we all seek the means of escape nearest our hearts, and in this connection it does one's heart good to see the many societies which are springing up in Newmarket, in Aurora, and elsewhere—dramatic societies, musical societies, art clubs, all designed to give people a chance to express themselves along the lines best fitted to their tastes and abilities. Among these is the Pine Orchard Dramatic Society, which, through the winter, found pleasure and profit in preparing for the spring presentation of a comedy, "Have A home—the character of Ted Watson, a young husband very much in love, was portrayed by Lloyd Heaslip, with almost professional skill. You saw and lived with him in his attempts to find a substitute wife, a substitute cook and a butler, with which to impress a business man from whom he was expecting a boost in position, and whom he was to entertain at dinner. His swinging like a pendulum between substitute wives was exquisitely funny. His real wife, played by Mrs. Douglas Hope, with this part's alternating hope, despair, temper and indignation, was really fine. Your sympathy was all hers. Lou Mansfield, the Watson's too charming neighbor, was played by Helen Reid in a way that took you with her into the impossible situations with which she had to cope, as she tried, while deeply in love with one man, to act as a substitute wife for another. And so, finds she must act as hostess to her real love. But she brought us with her out of these ridiculous situations triumphantly, which was also a triumph for Helen's acting.

The part of Ho Larson—substitute butler—really a bouncer, was played by Jimmy Sheridan and his pathetic attempts to butler; his realistic attempt to bounce the real wife—much hindered by a soft heart for "dames," his delight in a fiancée whose name he forgot to learn, and his naive joy in a ring—very sympathetic—purchased from a pawnbroker, were delineated with real skill and appreciation of the humor.

The part of Mark Andrews, a business man in love with Lou, was played by Albert Hoak. This part, with its long monologues, with only interpolations by the cast, except in two love scenes, was a difficult one, which would tax the powers of an experienced actor, but Mr. Hoak

MEMORY ECHOES TELL OF MOWDER'S GARDEN

By J. JAY WATSON

This morning I went Whitechurching in Pine Orchard. I had a pleasant visit in the home of Henry and Abigail Mowder. Abigail Mowder was most in evidence and what a hostess she proved to be! Her cheerful living-room, with its many bright touches of color, made an enchanting spot to look in upon.

Abigail's flow of spirits as usual brightened everything about her. Mother, who accompanied me, came into the room. Her good eye for color led to comments about bits of fancy work with Abigail's explanations heightening the charm of the room. The rays of light from the windows facing east and south gave an atmosphere that seemed to praise everything in a subdued tone in these words: "A house is built of bricks and stones, but a home is built of loving thought."

Someone has said, "Home is a man's castle, a woman's heaven, a child's garden of memories." Certainly Abigail's manner as she talked of her home, with now and then mention of Henry, makes this definition very factual. The "garden of memories" I can verify myself. After a time, Abigail showed mother out to her garden and I went along—again we had a treat in store for us.

The different beds in the garden were carefully examined, the peculiarities of some late plantings were compared with some earlier ones. There was a variety of vegetables that would satisfy the taste in the months ahead and keep the appetite from becoming jaded. But as every meal needs dessert, of course there were fruits to satisfy—so we went over to look at the gooseberry bushes, the black currant and red currant bushes and others.

Whoever makes a garden Has oh, so many friends! The glory of the morning.

The dew when daylight ends, The wind and rain and sunshine And dew and fertile sod, And he who makes a garden Works hand in hand with God. Abigail, as well as mother, both were garden lovers and they had "Oh, so many friends!"

Henry Mowder was busily engaged in his workshop, so we did not see him.

The near approach to their home on all sides was full of beauty, representing tree life and agricultural life—and to balance the picture the Quaker meeting house was in the adjoining piece of land. Every picture needs

MAGISTRATE'S COURT SIX-MONTH SENTENCE FOR RADIO THEFT

A Newmarket youth was convicted on a charge of stealing a radio and two Sutton youths were convicted of incommensurate peaceful pedestrians by fighting, in magistrate's court on Friday morning. Magistrate J. E. Pritchard, K.C., presided.

The Newmarket youth admitted a previous record and said that he had been sentenced to three months in Toronto a week ago on another charge. He was sentenced to three months consecutive to the Toronto sentence.

The two Sutton youths were each fined $10 and costs or ten days when they admitted that they had been fighting on the sidewalk outside a Sutton restaurant. Constable William Burke laid the charges.

It's a worth-while effort and all such are all to the good.

MOUNT ALBERT 7 Of 80 Attend Meet Of Mt. Albert Legion

The regular monthly meeting of the Mount Albert branch of the Canadian Legion was held May 8 with the lowest attendance on record. Of a total membership of 80, seven appeared.

Postponed by the small attendance were plans for participation in the district meeting at Aurora on June 15. Transportation, and the color party have yet to be arranged. With sports day in the village only three weeks away, the Legion lacks any arrangements with its members for special duties.

A year's subscription to the Era and Express is only $2. It is $3 for two years.

The May meeting of the Mount Albert Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Arnot Harrison with 32 members and six visitors present.

It was decided to donate all the proceeds from the supper served on Sports Day to the park board.

All members who decide to go to Guelph on June 18 are asked to call Mrs. Arnot Harrison and speak for their tickets.

Special parcels will be sent as often as possible to a sister institute in England for distribution there. There was splendid response at this meeting to the roll-call of food and clothing for Britain. Donations can be left with Mrs. Carmen Rolling.

Mrs. G. W. Calver, one of our members who leaves shortly to visit her parents in England, read a clipping from a Brace-bridge paper written by one who had recently visited there, describing how badly these brave people need anything we can spare them. Miss Mae Pageau gave a pleasing solo.

Mrs. Bruce Rolling read a paper entitled Keeping Your Home in the Pink, stressing the fact that each home needs a watchful eye, paint and repairs as soon as needed. Mrs. Ken Lawson gave a splendid demonstration on table setting and serving. Four members served to a full course dinner, showing the proper method of serving. A social half-hour brought this interesting meeting to a close.

MOUNT ALBERT Dairy Yet To Miss Delivery In 25 Years

Nearing the end of 25 years of milk delivery from his dairy in Mount Albert, George Price is facing the same problem that all the farmers of the district are facing, late planting. Mr. Price said on the weekend that he had just completed all his seeding with the exception of one field.

"It is a little late for their usual finish," Mr. Price said, "but I am hoping for good crops." Mr. Price said he was not putting in so many potatoes this year because of fluctuations in price. "Sometimes a person is stuck with a large quantity of them and they usually end up as cattle feed," he said.

Mr. Price and Bob Boag, operator and delivery man with the dairy for the past 14 years, combine between them almost 25 years of never missing a milk delivery. Mr. Price took over the dairy in 1923.

However with a few warm days things will pick up wonderfully and we will soon be seeing flowers and blossoms in all their beauty once again.

Mother's Day was observed in the United church by a large congregation. The church school took part in the service with a junior choir, and Jimmie Cupples as soloist. Stories were given by Marie Broad, one of the scholars, and Miss Hodson, one of the teachers. Rev. W. H. Burgess held a baptismal service when eight babies were baptized. He also spoke to the congregation on the different homes and how parents were responsible for the bringing up of their children and the care they should give them. He asked them to come to church and Sunday-school with the children as so much depends on the example set by the parents. The church was beautifully decorated with ferns and spring flowers. Rev. Jack Thompson, field secretary of the M.M. department of the United church, will be the guest speaker next Sunday at 11 o'clock. Sunday-school will commence at 10 o'clock.

KETTLEBY W.M.S. AND W.A. IN JOINT MEETING

The W.M.S. and W.A. of Kettleby United church met in the United church hall on May 8, with the W.M.S. opening its meeting first. After the opening hymn, the president lead in prayer for the church, its leaders, and also our missionary. R. Geer then read the scriptures. The roll-call was answered by a verse of scripture and minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. Burns.

Mrs. Blachford then read letters asking for clothing to be made, and a letter asking us to raise the allocation this year. This was moved and carried. Mrs. Cambourne then continued with the study of India which has been made so interesting that we really have enjoyed it. The W.M.S. then closed with a hymn, and the W.A. meeting opened with the theme song and prayer by the president. The Scripture was read by Mrs. Jewitt. Mrs. Schmidt gave explanation of the passage. Minutes were read of last meeting. The concert committee reported having secured a play but were unable to get it for May 24, so the play at Kettleby will be held May 30 this year. The play will be given by the Young People of the United church, Weston, and has been given there twice and in several other places. It is a three-act comedy called Pig Tails, and the committee has heard fine reports from all who have seen it.

Committees were then appointed to look after the stage and serve these young people lunch. Letters of thanks were read from those who had received "get well" cards and there was a report from the sick of our church. A favorite hymn of one of our members was then sang by all and the roll was answered by 22 members. The topic was given by Mrs. Burns, "Our debts, what they are, and how to pay them." A piano selection by Mrs. Canbourne was enjoyed. The hostesses, Mrs. Cragg, Mrs. Heacock and Mrs. McCluskie, served supper, the children and guests swelling the crowd to 40.

UNITED CHURCH

Pink cala lilies, snapdragons and ferns adorned Sutton United church on Saturday, May 3, when Barbara Jean, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Price Holborn, became the bride of Mr. John Douglas Rice, D.F.C., son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Rice, Springfield, Ont. Rev. Earl Knechtel officiated at the ceremony while Mrs. Maurice Tremayne played the wedding music and Miss Lillian Holborn, aunt of the bride, was soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a moire faille taffeta gown of sky pink with portrait neckline outlined with self flange and tightly fitted bodice, the full train falling from a large bustle bow. Her veil of silk net embroidered with seed pearls, which had been worn by her mother, was caught to a Mary Queen of Scots headdress and she carried a cascade of white gardenias, roses and sweet-peas. She was attended by Mrs. Munro Thompson as matron of honor and Mrs. Jack Macdonald and Mrs. Clifford Olorenshaw as bridesmaids. They were gownned alike in frocks of heavenly blue faille taffeta with self color embroidered Bertha necklines, fitted bodices and full skirts, matching halo headresses and mittens and carried nosegays of pink carnations and coral pink sweetpeas and blue forget-me-nots.

The little flower girl, Roberta Rice, niece of the groom, wore a floor-length dress of flowered organdy over pink with matching headdress and carried an old-fashioned nosegay.

Mr. Brock Williams was the best man while George and Joseph Holborn, brothers of the bride, Munro Thompson and Alan Vanderwater acted as ushers.

Receiving at her home after the ceremony, the bride's mother was lovely in a floor-length gown of grey crepe with hat of pink straw trimmed with flowers of mohair and wearing a corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Robert Rice, sister-in-law of the groom, who was assisting in the absence of his mother, was wearing a floor-length dress of ice blue crepe with accents of fuschia in her gloves, hat and corsage.

The bride changed to a dress of shrimp pink crepe with matching hat and top coat of powder blue with white fox trimming for her trip to New York. Upon their return they will live in Springfield.

Young Hopefuls

By DOROTHY MUIR BOWMAN

Randy Needs Attention
Randy is ten years old, the youngest of four children. Lately, he has been attracting attention to himself by destructive activities. Even though he is severely criticized and punished for his outlandish behavior, he continues to behave in a fashion that embarrasses and distracts the other members of the household.

The first six or seven years of his life, Randy received plenty of attention simply because he was the baby of the family. However, for the past two years, the other members of the household have practically ignored his existence. Randy is considered too young to have a voice in family topics; he seems to be included in family affairs as an after-thought or because it is even more inconvenient to make separate arrangements for him.

Recently, the room Randy shares with his teen-age brother was repapered with hunting scenes: red-coats, white steeds and two-tone pointers. Every one was especially pleased with brother Don's choice of paper. No one had thought of consulting Randy in the matter — despite the fact he spends considerably more time in the room than Don.

Fun With A Crayon
During some of Randy's solitary time in his room soon after the repapering, he busied himself with crayons, making ugly black nondescript quadrupeds of the beautiful white riding steeds, and dark brown mongrels of the two-tone pointers. This action is typical of Randy's behavior these days. He has altered practically every piece of wearing apparel he owns—making short socks out of long ones, sleeveless sweaters of long-sleeved ones, etc.

Randy has his own ideas about what he likes; yet, he is expected to abide by the decisions of his older sisters and brother, Don. At this time, he is rebelling against everyone and everything.

It isn't that Randy is willfully destructive. He is simply asserting himself in the only manner he knows to gain the attention he requires. If constructive activity provided him with the attention due him, he would resort to constructive activity. With some encouragement, Randy would delight in making a new lamp shade for his desk light, painting the woodwork in his room, making attractive book covers, putting stencil patterns on birthday, Christmas and variety cards and countless other useful activities.

Children will suffer considerably criticism and punishment to attract attention. They cannot endure to be ignored. When adults, so absorbed in their own activities, pass them by, they feel lonely and misunderstood. A lonely and misunderstood child will resort to any type of activity that will bring him the attention he craves.

Children need to feel a part of their family. They should be included in plans and preparations for household alterations, family outings, and, in fact, all things which really affect their regular routine. The child, who is given his rightful important position within the family circle, will strive to retain that position. Through his behavior, he will try to prove himself worthy of the responsibilities and confidences placed in him. Such children are a credit to their families.

manner the ways and means of eliminating duplication of services rendered by the national and other branches of administration. Over-government is a burden on the taxpayers of Canada; it continues to grow and it is a burden about which we do very little.

"I am sure the people of Canada would like to hear representatives at a dominion-provincial conference discuss a national health policy which would ensure our people against the economic disaster which is visited upon so many through sickness and disease. We should like to see the representatives of the provinces and the dominion agree on a policy of co-operation in the establishment of a hospital building program which would provide adequate and modern hospital facilities, not only in the great centres of population but in the small communities all across Canada. We should like to see the dominion and provincial leaders discuss ways and means whereby our aged citizens would be better cared for."

CHRISTIAN CHURCH HAS BLOSSOM TEA

Newmarket—The Junior Ladies' Aid of the Christian church held its first annual Blossom Tea on Thursday, May 8. Spring blossoms, which had been made by the members, decorated the Sunday-school and the tea tables were gay with bright splashes of paper blossoms which lent a festive air to the occasion.

Several piano selections were presented by Carol Boag and a friendly afternoon was spent with many guests present.

The table of home-made baking was a delight to the eye as well as a credit to the fine cooks of the Christian church, with angel cakes and many other delicacies displayed for sale.

AT SALVATION ARMY

The Mother's Day services at the Salvation Army were conducted by Major J. F. Morrison, the Divisional Young People's secretary of the Toronto West Division of the Salvation Army of which Newmarket is a part.

In the morning service, which was specially devoted to the Scouts, Cubs, and Brownies who paraded to the hall, Maj. Morrison addressed his remarks specially to the boys and girls.

In the afternoon at Sunday-school, a special service entitled "So He Made Mothers," was put on by the Sunday-school under the direction of Mrs. Captain Robinson, assisted by Young People's Sgt.-Maj., Mrs. Harry Glenn.

Maj. Morrison addressed the Sunday-school. Captain Robinson sang an appropriate solo and Mrs. Major Morrison, who assisted her husband throughout the day, presented every Sunday-school member and teacher with flowers.

On Monday, Captain Arthur Robinson attended a special officers' council in the afternoon and a public service in the evening held in the Toronto Temple Corps where the guest speakers were Commissioner and Mrs. Sladen.

other reports, it staggers me to look at the amount of work that she has accomplished in a month."

Miss Gardner reported that during the month of April she had made 22 visits to the schools, had held five child health conferences which were attended by a total of 74 infants and 11 pre-school children, and two immunization clinics. The report showed that she had made 113 visits to the home and had had 20 office visits.

Dr. L. W. Dales, medical officer of health, submitted the water report to the board. "The report shows that as far as water is concerned, there is no bacterial contamination," he said.

The Abbott budget has been the subject of discussion in parliament and throughout Canada during the week and while there have been some criticisms, in the main its reception has been good.
The budget was highlighted by the announcement graduated cuts in personal income tax averaging 29 percent and the new lower rates are effective from July 1, 1947.

Revenue loss to the government through these personal income tax cuts, estimated Mr. Abbott, would run $110,000,000 in 1947-1948 and $175,000,000 in a full year. In his budget speech, stripped of the usual complicated jargon of big-money financing, Mr. Abbott ticked off illustrative highlights of the effects of his tax cuts: nine of every ten taxpayers would receive a reduction of 29 percent or better; the "starting rate", which is the lowest tax bracket, was being slashed from 22 to ten percent, bringing relief of 54 percent on the smallest taxable incomes; the 50 percent "marginal rate", the straight percentage levy on income above the dividing line of the various tax brackets would not apply until earnings reach $17,000 instead of the former $13,000.

Canadian rates were lower than those in Britain, Australia, New Zealand or the United States, said Mr. Abbott, lower even than the new reduced levels proposed by the American house of representatives.
"Very Drastic"
Mr. Abbott termed his tax cuts
"very drastic" and were "hardly justified by economic considerations alone". Excessive wartime rates had made Canadians "acutely tax conscious" and Mr. Abbott wanted to remove existing "serious barriers" to extra effort and initiative, such as overtime work bringing in additional income.

Since the tax peak of 1942, rates had been cut 51 percent and with the new deductions, Mr.
Abbott believed the government had gone "as far as possible under existing circumstances".
Opposition critics took issue with the budget in that it did not go further and give tax reductions in the field of indirect taxation.
There never was a budget which pleased everyone and no matter how much was granted in tax cuts, there always are those who would ask for more.

The debate on the budget likely will end this week and one of the closest divisions of the session is anticipated as the vote is taken on amendments by the different opposition groups. The general reception accorded the budget in the country has been reassuring. It has tended to create confidence at a time when confidence is greatly needed.

Open The Door Wider

Canada is to open the door wider to immigrants. The government's policy, as outlined by the prime minister in the House of Commons this week, falls into two parts: measures designed for immediate applications and a long-term program. Under the first head will come a less restrictive interpretation of regulations in regard to admission of British subjects and citizens of the United States; extended admissibility respecting relatives of Canadian residents; admission of some thousands of refugees.

Under the second, the government's objective is to secure what new population Canada can absorb but not to exceed that number. Apart from the repeal of the Chinese Immigration Act and revocation of the order-in-council of June 17, 1931, respecting naturalization, there will be no removal of existing regulations regarding Asiatic immigration unless and until alternative measures of effective control have been worked out.

Testifying before the senate immigration committee, Dr. Allan Peabbles, director of research and statistics in the labor department, estimated that Canada would have a shortage of between 35,000 and 44,000 within the next two years which might be met by immigration.

Male requirements were listed as between 15,000 and 16,000, including 2,000 full-time farmers, 5,000 to 6,000 in logging, 2,300 in mining, 600 in construction and 5,000 for heavy unskilled labor.
Female needs totalled between 20,000 and 28,000, including 10,000 to 12,000 for such jobs as domestic, restaurant and hospital services and 10,000 to 16,000 in manufacturing.

Expect Greater Shortage

Dr. Peabbles said Canada had had only one brief spasm of unemployment in the past five years and that about a year ago. It was possible there would be a greater labor shortage in 1947 than in 1946. A large proportion of 850,000 European refugees and displaced persons are candidates for overseas emigration, the committee was told. Among them are about 250,000 practical farmers and "a large supply of skilled and semi-skilled labor suitable for various industries". James Cooley, Canadian representative in Ottawa of the 35-nation inter-

OTTAWA LETTER

"Jack" Smith, M.P.
North York

governmental committee on refugees, said the majority of the 850,000 were in Germany, Austria and Italy and the committee had undertaken to find new homes for them because they did not want to return to their own countries.
Between ten and 15 percent were Jews.

The House of Commons has passed a bill to proclaim the week of April 10 in each year as National Wild Life Week. April 10 is the anniversary of the birthday of the late Jack Miner. It is intended to make the week a national tribute to the work of Jack Miner who did so much to create public interest in the value of Canadian Wild Life and consideration for their natural habitats.

The dominion-provincial farm labor program will be continued during the coming year. Instituted during war years, the program provides for joint dominion and provincial efforts to locate and transfer farm workers to meet labor shortages in agriculture. The work in the field is handled through the national employment service and provincial officials.

Under this joint program, arrangements will be made again for the movement of farm workers whenever they are required both within and between provinces to assist in meeting shortages.
During 1946, the minister of labor, Mr. Mitchell, states well over 20,000 farm workers were moved under this program, a movement which had meant a great deal to the farmers who have secured their services, while at the same time the moves served to broaden the experience of participating farm workers.

KESWICK

Rev. N. R. Brown To Assume Duties July 1

On July 1 Rev. M. R. Brown, who is now minister of the Bay charge, Napanee, Ont., will become minister of the Keswick and Ravenshoe charge of the United church. At a joint congregational meeting on May 7,
Mr. Brown was chosen, by ballot vote, from the three candidates for the call. On motion, the call was made unanimous and was accepted by Mr. Brown on receipt of a telephone message.

Prior to his six years in the Canadian army, Mr. Brown served the charges of Roseneath, Haliburton and Tainworth, all in the Bay of Quinte conference.
His first four army years were in the combat forces, after which he was persuaded to transfer to the chaplaincy.

A graduate of Emmanuel College, Toronto, Mr. Brown is the son of a minister. When he was 18 years of age he came to Georgina Island, under appointment by the United church Home Mission Board, and served as a teacher and lay minister for a year and a half. Speaking at Keswick and Ravenshoe, Mr.
Brown made appreciative references to his friends, the Georgina Indians, who received him with great kindness.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown have two children, one of high school age,
the other aged seven.

Miss Doreen Niles will assist with readings in the recital program in the United church Friday evening, May 16. The pupils of Mrs. Harold Pollard will be heard in piano and organ recital, while a number of other artists will also assist in the program. The public is invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Pollock and Reva were at their Keswick home for the weekend.

Miss Mary Jean Marritt is at home for her annual vacation from Western hospital, Toronto, where she is a nurse-in-training.
The evening auxiliary of the United W.M.S. will meet Tuesday, May 20, at the home of its president, Mrs. Stanley Smythe.

At the Mother's Day and baptismal service in the United church last Sunday morning, eight infants received the sacrament of baptism. They were Barry George Milford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Snelling; Marilyn Ethelann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Rye; Ronald Philip, son of Mr. and Mrs.
Donald Morton; George Lionel,
son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mc-Hattie; Diane Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Whittaker;
Norman Wayne, son of Mrs.
Norman Folkeard; Karen Cecilia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
Ewart van Norman; Barry
Douglas, son of Mr. and Mrs.
Leon Connell.

Ruth Mary Winch was soloist for this service, which was conducted by Rev. Gordon Lapp.
Sunday evening, May 18, Mr.
Lapp has asked for the opportunity of talking hockey, from the pulpit, to the boys of the three Keswick teams, to other interested boys and to their fathers.

SCOUT NEWS

Don't forget that we boys have a lot of work to do around the east side of town on May 17. On last Saturday, we collected nearly nine and a half tons of scrap paper.

Several of the boys are making extra pocket money by turning in 20-oz. tins.

The church parade on Sunday was attended by Brownies, Cubs and Scouts who paraded to the Salvation Army church.

An appeal is being made by the scoutmaster and cubmaster for used uniforms. Please leave them at Budd's studio. —D.C.

'46 Juniors Back Again, Future Bright Says Mentor

By GEO. HASKETT, JR.

Prospects look bright for a banner year for junior baseball in Newmarket this summer. Several practices have been held to date and from here in regular practice sessions on Monday, Wednesday and Fridays will be the order. The local junior entry will be heading for Stouffville to officially open the season there on Wednesday, May 22. Aurora will be the visitors to the S. S. school grounds on Friday, May 30, to get the local baseball activity underway.

All of last year's team are likely to be available this summer. Stan Winger will don mask and decker once again, while all of last year's pitching corps will be on deck with Ken Broughton, Ivan "Lefty" Gibson and Tommy Dales rapidly getting into pitching shape. Bill Hopper and Don Brown are also slated for work on the hill-top. Two other prospects for pitching duty are rounding into form, one being a right-hander from Pickering College and also a south-paw who is showing plenty of speed. Last year's infield remains intact with Grant Blight, "Red" Palmateer, Jimmy Rutledge and Johnny McTavish ready for action. Tommy McHale in all probability will be ready to resume action on the diamond after being forced to the side-lines last season owing to an injury early last spring. Ken "Motts" Thoms, Bill Johnson and Harry Hill of last year's regulars along with Fred Palmer, Gar. Elphinstone, Bob Walker, Laurie Cotton, Jack Smith, and Delbert Scott are battling it out for outfield births.

Aurora Legion Team Wins Zone Crib Championship

Newmarket—With three ten-men teams competing from Canadian Legion branches in Woodbridge, Aurora, and Newmarket, the Zone E-2 cribbage championships were decided at the Newmarket Canadian Legion club rooms last week.

The contest, the first of its kind in the district, provided some keen competition, the team prize being decided only at the completion of the singles tournament and a tie in the singles event forcing a play-off between Clifford Chapman of Aurora, and Leo Watson of Woodbridge.

The Aurora team, captained by Claude White, took the Bert Phelps shield, emblematic of the team championship, with 62 points. Woodbridge was second with 62 points. The Aurora team included Claude White, Leslie Steadman, Alfred Heard, Norman Foster, Tommy Raeside, Grover Gage, Orval Heath, Cliff Chapman, Tom Smith and Cecil Holman.

Leo "Gus" Watson, of Woodbridge, with a large gallery watching, took the singles trophy from Cliff Chapman of Aurora. Both men had tied at 16 points in the four rounds played, but Watson took straight games in the finals. Dr. Carl VanderVoort of Newmarket was third with 14 points.

Jack Waterworth and Len Robertson of Woodbridge took the doubles awards without extra play. They went through the regular matches to emerge the only undefeated team.

A regular league schedule will come into effect in the fall and winter months with a game away and a game at home each month. The event was convened by district sports representative, T. A. M. Hulse, assisted by Bert Tibbets, Woodbridge, and Cecil Jarvis, Newmarket.

The Newmarket branch entertained the players following the conclusion of the night's play.

Pitchers, 3rd Baseman All I Ask — McDonald

Newmarket Veterans' softball team, according to their enthusiastic manager, Mac McDonald, is coming but good except, says Mac, for the lack of a third baseman and a couple of more pitchers. "The team is open to anyone in the district and is playing in the North Yonge loop," he says. "You don't have to be a veteran."

The boys are practising every Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights down at the Stuart Scott ball field with a couple of exhibition games cooking for the next week or so and on June 7, formal defence of the Allison trophy at the Mount Albert sports day.

FETE MIDGETS WITH CHICKEN TO END SEASON

By GEORGE HASKETT

The members of the Newmarket midget hockey team, the club executive and those associated with the team during the past winter gathered at the home of Frank Bowser, Gorham St., last Friday evening for a banquet to officially close off their hockey season.

They sat down to a chicken supper presented under the good auspices of Mr. Bowser, who with the help of friends, has looked after the finances for the club since their entry into the Toronto Hockey league, King Clancy series.

After the dinner provided by Mrs. Bowser, Mrs. F. Hall, Mrs. E. Gibson, Mrs. M. Hall and Mrs. G. Wilkins, Mr. Bowser spoke briefly welcoming the guests, reviewing the past hockey season and thanking the Canadian Legion and all those responsible for the grand showing of the team during the season. Fred Hall, who has coached most of the boys since they were at public school, congratulated the members of the team for their good sportsmanship and good record during the year.

Dr. Carl VanderVoort spoke on behalf of Branch 426, Canadian Legion, which sponsored the team during its group play and into the Ontario minor hockey association playdowns. Other speakers of the evening included Harry Thoms, Eddie Gibson and Geo. Haskett, Jr.

Don Duncan responded on behalf of the team, thanking all those responsible for the evening's supper and entertainment. Goal keeper Bob Winch, team captain Albert Smith and Don Gibson also had their innings. Those present were Don Gibson, Ron Coveney, Bob Winch, Don Duncan, Grant Firth, Doug Bunn, Bob Rose, Dave Couch, Albert Smith, Johnny Leary, Sid Beattie, Geo. Zogalo, "Red" Wilkins, Harold Andrews, Laurie Thoms, Dr. VanderVoort, Harry Thoms, Frank Bowser, Fred Hall, Geo. Haskett, Jr., Geo. Wilkins, Ed Gibson, Morris Hall.

Thus came to a close a most enjoyable evening and the townsfolk can be proud of the record set up by their midget team, and a vote of thanks goes to all those responsible for the team showing. The boys having won during their Ontario Minor Hockey Association play 11 games and lost one, while in Clancy series, they annexed four victories, one tie and lost three.

ON THE

ALLEYS

BY ROY CHANT

Smith's Bowling Alleys After omitting last week's news of the ladies' bowling league, we are going to give you some of the scores this week as there have been fine totals rolled up by the girls. The S.S.S. team rolled up a score of 2,484 for a successful night.

Marg VanZant had high single for the evening with 241. Deane Muirhead rolled a nice high triple of 659, edging out Jeanne Duncan with 622 and Phyl Osborne's 603. Several good triples were marked up for the evening, including Kitty Ruddock's 559, Mary Osborne, 559, Edith Gordon, 590, Irene Pickering 575, Alice Gibson, 563, Ada Rose, 562, and Ethel Winters with 545.

Last Monday evening, the League finished its 30-week schedule and a successful season. Deane Muirhead was again high triple for the evening with 661 (279). High triples for the evening were also rolled by Dorothy Smith with 596, Elsie Cline, 572, Ada Rose, 564, Phyl Osborne, 535, Ella Wilkins, 526.

The S.S.S. team, captained by Jeanne Duncan, won top honors for the season with 70 points. In second place with 61½ points, the Happy Gang, edging out the Headpins with P.F.'s by half a point, as they tied with 61 points. Dumbbells were next with 50 points, followed by the Drips with 50½ points.

Jeanne Duncan rolled a sizzling 378 for high single honors for the season with Mini Glavanelli next with 354. Deane Muirhead had top average of 183.5 for 87 games. Phyl Osborne rolled an average of 178.3 and Floss Campbell 177.6 for 87 games. For 90 games Marg VanZant had an average of 175.8 and Ada Rose, 174.3.

Don's Bowling Alleys Don't forget the men's bowling contest that starts tonight at 7 o'clock. Those wishing to enter still may do so by appearing early at the alleys this evening, so that your name may be placed on the entry list. Great interest is shown in this contest and a large entry is expected.

FROM BEHIND THE SOFTBALL SCREEN

Charlie Ryan, sachem of the Richmond Hill softball warriors, thinks its time to decide on what's what and why in North York softball. He reports Langstaff ready to go once again and with a better team than last year. Richmond Hill is breezing right along in its softball comeback. New sweaters arrived this week. Ben Waters is president of the club, aided and abetted by C. French, Lloyd Foote and others, with the veteran Steve Young acting as coach. The grounds are being revamped, a new screen provided and benches down each side of the foul line will provide seating room and a barrier to keep back the crowd. Hal Echlin, the Thornhill catcher of last year and still one of the best in these parts, has rejoined the Hill and Nels Findlay, the round pitcher and infielder, who is of senior calibre at his best, will also be in action for the Hill boys.

From Unionville, Ryan has snagged Jackie Watson, the fast moving forward of Markham Millionaires, who has had some senior softball experience, and Charlie Blundell, who hurled for the Unionville entry at Dentonia Park and can also play elsewhere. We can expect to see the veteran Len McMullen, another Unionville player, with the Ryan clan too. Today Bennett, "the Old Man River" of North York softball, will be in action once again, as will Jim and Art Crean, Tim Saul and Steve Young. Newcomers to softball are Herbie Rose who used to carry the bats for Ryan's champions not so long ago; Normie Stunden, the southpaw baseball hurler and goalie de luxe; Jack and George Rumney, Victoria Square and hockey activity, and others. Ryan claims that he will also "trot out" to the pitching mound as occasion demands George Stong, the fastballer who has been pitching senior ball in Hamilton since coming back from overseas, and Ron O'Dell, formerly of King, who used to toss the big apple for the Hill in pre-war days. At last reports, Stong was still in Hamilton and needed badly and O'Dell was up north. Ryan, however, generally delivers the goods but it will be doubtful if he'll be able to produce an O.S.A. certificate for Stong at least. The return of the Hill to district competition will be more than welcome to the North York sports scene. It just didn't seem the same without them the past three years.

Scotty Mair is lost to the Newmarket Vets softball squad this year as is Irv Stepak. Both boys played sweet infield for the Vets last year and were timely hitters. The duo have both middle-aged it since last year and are residing in Toronto. Scotty will be seen in action at Davisville Park with Ostranders while Stepak is on the retired list. Herb Cain of the championship Hershey Bears hockey squad, still fleet of foot and deadly at the plate, and Charlie VanZant, the durable catcher of Newmarket Redmen days, will help assuage the walls of mentor Jack McDonald. Speaking of the old Redmen, we learn that Wes Niles is now a supervisor for a well known insurance firm and doing well in the "endurance field."

Bob Moody has returned to softball at Schomberg and is hoping to repeat with another Ontario rural championship. Practically all the team is available and Father Duffy, St. Patrick's church, will be playing coach of the squad. He knows his way about the baseball paths. The newly-formed Schomberg Lions club is expecting to get its baptism in the sports field by fielding a juvenile boys softball club and lending some support to girls' softball. Last year, it will be recalled, Schomberg had two girls' softball clubs. This year, we have it on good authority, there will be only one club and that one should be able to hold its own with any in North York.

NEWS OF LEGION

Aubrey Marshall, who is at present a patient in the York County hospital, has been appointed to the executive council of the Newmarket Branch of the Canadian Legion.

At a special executive meeting which was held in the Legion club rooms on Monday, May 19, it was decided that the proceeds of the recent V-E Day dance would be given to a fellow veteran whose home was partially destroyed by fire last week.

Cecil Jarvis, chairman of the entertainment committee, reports that the dance held at the high school on May 9 was most successful. Mrs. C. S. Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Evans and Howard Hugo were winners of special prizes and the evening was climaxed by delicious refreshments served by the wives of the legion members under the con-venership of Mrs. Ken Silver.

Many of the Legion members have not obtained tickets to sell for the July 1 rally. Let's go along together and make this rally a real success. Get your books of tickets from R. D. Brown at the Bank of Montreal, sell them and make your returns to Doug as soon as possible.

The North York GARDENER

By JOHN DALY

Vice President, Newmarket Horticultural Society

Continuing with our list of possibilities for borders, we have:

Digitalis or foxglove: There are several perennial varieties of this family, but one usually grown is a biennial which grows 3-4 ft. in height. It produces thumb-shaped flowers of white, pink or rose spotted with crimson or chocolate, in June or July.

Dahlia: While this is not a hardy perennial it merits a place in the border. The roots can be lifted after the first killing frost and stored in a cool basement over the winter. There is a great variety of types — some growing about 18" covered with single or semi-double flowers in different sizes. Others growing 4-6 ft. with immense double flowers up to 16" across. Plant the tubers 5-6" deep when the ground warms up in spring. Blooms mid-August and September.

Dianthus Allwoodii: Half carnation and half grass pink, is a very desirable. The colors are varied and the flowers are single or double and fragrant. Height 6-12" Blooms July-September.

Doronicum or Leopard's Bane: Is an easily grown perennial, 1-1½' according to the variety. The flowers are yellow and good for cutting. Blooms in May and June.

Euboeum or Warren Wort: Flowers are white, red or violet and the plant grows 8" high and needs shade.

Galatella: Is a useful plant, growing 2' in height. The flowers are usually a combination of dark red and yellow, but some varieties have been introduced with all red or all yellow flowers. It is good for cutting and blooms from June until frost.

Gypsophila or Baby's Breath: Invaluable for bouquets. Can be obtained in white or pink. It blooms July-September and grows 2-3' in height.

Helianthus: A popular late summer or fall blooming plant for the back of the border. 4-5' tall, with flowers of yellow, orange or dark red.

Hibiscus: Grows 5-6' with large flowers in red, white or pink, and is a fall flower.

Hemerocallis or Day Lily: This is another "must have." It would take a column to do it justice. Originally a bright yellow color, flowering in June, it has been improved recently and by planting several varieties you can have a variety of colors from yellow through orange to dark red. Recently a pink variety has been introduced but it is still high-priced. By planting different varieties the blooming season can be extended from May until September—size from 2-5'.

Hollyhock: This plant is well known to all. The double varieties are the most desirable growing 5-8' with white, pink, red, maroon and yellow flowers. (Hofa, formerly called Funkia or Plantain Lily: Grows 18-2' in 4-5' blue and mauve. Will
